At our recent MWSA meeting, we discussed funeral teams and overall funeral attendance, which is sometimes, only one brother giving the eulogy by himself. But for new candidates, coming in for the first time, they get a sense of what they are walking into. Which leads me to the proposed idea of a lodge workday! Where we can schedule to pressure wash the entryway, paint the handrails, clean up the bathroom and library. Make the "card room" more inviting and comfortable. Generally, clean up the entryway like it is your house, because it is. And it requires cooperation and coordination to get the ball rolling. It's up to us to be the change what is needed, no-one else is going to do it. Any suggestions or assistance would be very welcomed. Perhaps you own a pressure washer, or you have cans of black paint in the garage. Sam loved getting together with his friends and family at the 200 acre family retreat "Dickson's Pine Ridge Farm" in McDade, Texas. Many happy days were spent at the "Farm" working on house projects, playing dominoes and card games, horseshoe throwing, cutting brush and firewood, building bonfires, shooting fireworks and raising a can of beer on the pavilion while laughing, partying and telling stories. Sam was the quintessential story teller and he loved to "kid" folks that he was serious about a story only to catch them off guard and make them laugh. He liked listening to vintage country music and spending time with his many pets through the years. His last pet was a Great Dane named Brooklyn who brought him and Jean much comfort. In his last months he enjoyed sitting on his front porch swing with Jean while smiling, waving and conversing with many of his neighbors. During his final days, Jean his loving wife, took great care of him and he pased away in their only home that they shared together 64 years. #### The Past Master's Corner

Greetings Brethren,

October was a busy month in the district and in the state. We had a great MWSA meeting this quarter sponsored by Hill City Lodge, the York Rite had the Annual School of Instruction in Waco, and there were Scottish Rite Reunions in both San Antonio and Waco. These state and district-wide events highlight the importance of Masonic travel. It is a beautiful experience to build bonds with brothers away from home and to reunite with others.

Travel provides fraternal benefits and also deepens our understanding of our Masonic Ritual. In his lecture at Mid-Atlantic Esotericon in 2020, Brother David Bacon highlighted the fact that behavioral and cognitive habits might reduce the effectiveness of ritual as a tool, for with repetition, we are putting on blinders hampering our ability to look for what is new or different in ritual, as well as limiting our capacity for extracting new information. I believe that traveling to a different lodge and seeing the same ritual put on by a different group of brethren can be beneficial in pulling us out of this mental rut.

We also know that repetition benefits us by strengthening our neural pathways. As we repeatedly watch or participate in Masonic ritual, neural connections are strengthened. When we travel to a new location, our brains produce new neural pathways. By participating in our familiar rituals in unfamiliar places, we are building new neural pathways connected to a strong matrix of neural connections. Perhaps this can aid us in gaining new insights into our rituals. My knowledge of neurology is minimal, to be generous, so I would love to hear from anyone with thoughts on this topic or anyone who has a stronger understanding of the subject matter. I hope to see you around the district and the state. On the 18th of November at 10 a.m., Onion Creek will hold a workshop on investigation committees. The year is drawing to a close, and Grand Lodge will be here before we know it. There are plenty of opportunities abound. Happy Travels!

Sincerely and Fraternally, Ryan DiVincenzo, Junior Warden, Hill City 456

The "Past Masters" of the Lodge are Lodge Officers who served as the Worshipful Master of the Lodge. Their experience and wisdom gained during their service to the Lodge is always available to the current officers of the Lodge. Hill City Lodge no.456 has an active Past Master's group. The "Governor" of our group by acclamation is; Kervin Warnken, P:M:. In May of this year, Brother Warnken called a Past Master's meeting. Traditionally, the incoming Master, tradition prevailing, addresses the Past Masters with his plans and vision for the upcoming Masonic year. Our Worshipful Master, Hilton Crocker, shared his plan and vision at the Past Masters meeting. His report was very positive. It included protection of Lodge traditions; continuation of wonderful meals, Esoteric excellence; Family nights, and Lodge Peace & Harmony.

Traditionally, Past Masters meetings are held quarterly unless a Special Called meeting is required.

Twenty One Years Ago...

Twenty one years ago, when I became a Mason, a Past Master ask me, "will you be a real Mason or a ring rapper "? I asked, what is a ring rapper? He replied, a ring rapper is a person who becomes a Master Mason and gets their ring only to rap it on he table, so everyone knows that they are a Mason. They don't participate in Degrees or even come to Lodge on a regular basis. I hope that I am considered a real Mason, having been Worshipful Master twice and District Deputy Grand Master once.I participate in Degrees and mentor new Masons. I don't say this to toot my own horn, but to hopefully motivate you to toot yours. Come to Lodge whenever you can. Learn a part, or all the parts in the Degree Teams . There are Masons who will help you learn. As they say, you get out of Masonry what you put into it. My hope for you, is that you get a lot out of Masonry.
